

School of Education

The basic principle of Dr.B.R Ambedkar's life has been based on education. Establishment of an egalitarian society in which the dream of including women and children from weaker sections into the mainstream was seen by them. All the legal measures for every citizen have been mentioned in the Constitution of India for the life struggle of Babasaheb and the strong life of all Indians in independent India. "Be educated, stay organized", this formula gave a new direction to India. Various courses are being run in the University School of Education.

Currently skill education is the mainstay of employment. The important role of women, youth and rural development courses is seen in the school, the work of taking the courses to villages, homes through education is constantly being done by the teachers of the school. During the coron period, many certificates and diploma courses for women, youth and rural development have been started in the school. Courses like skill education are important for self-reliant India campaign. Through education, the work of taking courses to villages and homes is continuously being done by the teachers of the school.
